3rd March 2020

Dear Parents/ Carers,

As you know, this Wednesday we are holding our 'World Book Day' in school. As this week has a special focus on reading, here is a reading challenge.

I challenge you to take a photograph of you reading. This can be anywhere... on the couch or on a rollercoaster! Feel free to be digitally creative and place your face and a book on an existing photograph e.g. Neil Armstrong could now be you reading on the moon.

When you have taken a picture please tweet us using our Twitter handle @StMary_ofAngels and hashtag #wherewillreadingtakeyou? Or, alternatively, you can print the photograph and bring it in to school.

There will be a dojo for everyone who enters the challenge and small prizes for the 3 most creative reading places, decided by some pupils from Year 6. Some photographs will also be displayed in school.

Winners will be chosen Friday 13th March.

Have fun and remember reading can take you anywhere.
